AnyDesk Update Summary - August 22, 2025

In version 9.5.0 for macOS, AnyDesk has rolled out a significant new feature: the ability to enable AnyDeskOne through MyAnyDeskII. This enhancement not only streamlines the user experience but also provides better integration for remote desktop management. Alongside this major update, several bugs have been addressed, notably the option to restore the original screen resolution on the remote device. Additionally, minor tweaks have been made to the user interface, ensuring a smoother and more intuitive operation for users.
