Some Help With

AnyDesk: Can I view the hardware settings of the connected device?

When connecting to a remote device, you can click on the green screen icon to display details about permissions, hardware, and network information of the remote device. This is incredibly useful for diagnosing any potential issues:

Please note that this information is only available at the time of connection and cannot currently be viewed on my.anydesk.com.