Some Help With

How to choose the right AnyDesk license

TABLE OF CONTENT

Solo License

Standard License

Advanced License

AnyDesk Licenses for Businesses

Welcome to AnyDesk, the perfect solution for your remote work needs! We are proud to offer a wide range of licenses designed for users and businesses of all sizes and sectors. Here are our options, specially designed for you:

Solo License

AnyDesk's Solo License is designed for freelancers and IT experts looking for an efficient and reliable solution for remote work and support.

- Licensed users: 1
- Simultaneous outgoing connections: 1
- Devices from which you can initiate a connection: 3
- Access to devices (interactive): unlimited
- Access to managed devices (unattended): up to 100
- Available add-ons: None

Example: Juan is an independent architect who frequently travels for work. He uses two main devices: a laptop when he's on the go, and his desktop computer at home. With AnyDesk, he can remotely and securely access his files and programs no matter where he is. AnyDesk's Solo License is perfect for his needs.

 © 2026 www.somehelpwith.com

Standard License

AnyDesk's Standard License is ideal for small and medium-sized teams, as well as companies that need a basic set of business features.

- Licensed users: 20
- Simultaneous outgoing connections: 1 (up to 19 additional connections can be added as an add-on)
- Access to devices (interactive): unlimited
- Access to managed devices (unattended): up to 500
- Available add-ons: Yes (simultaneous connections and namespace)

Example: XYZ Company has a team of 20 employees in their technical support department, but only five of them are on shift at any given time. Each of these employees makes remote connections during their shift and needs to record these connections as part of their standard operating procedures. AnyDesk's Standard License with additional simultaneous connections is the perfect choice for XYZ Company.

Advanced License

AnyDesk's Advanced License offers a comprehensive set of business features and is perfect for medium-sized companies and larger teams in all industries.

- Licensed users: 100
- Simultaneous outgoing connections: 2 (up to 48 additional connections can be added as an add-on)
- Access to devices (interactive): unlimited
- Access to managed devices (unattended): up to 1,000
- Available add-ons: Yes (simultaneous connections and namespace)

Example: ABC Company is a medium-sized company with 40 employees in their technical support and design team. They all need remote access to software during their workday. With AnyDesk, they can make multiple simultaneous connections, which is essential for the IT team providing technical support to clients or the Design team needing access to high-performance programs on external devices. Additionally, the AnyDesk management console helps their IT director manage users and control access to remote software.

AnyDesk has the perfect solution for your company. Choose the license that best fits your needs and start experiencing the flexibility of remote work with complete security. Contact us today!

